Surrogate MSA: Bioenergetic Surrogate Assessments

Gainesville Holistic Health Center (GHHC) offers a holistic natural alternative approach to healthcare using Surrogate Meridian Stress Assessment (sMSA) methods.

sMSA is ideal for:

- People who live far away from a naturopathic doctor
- People whose health is compromised and cannot travel
- Those with tight schedules and their time is limited
- Individuals that experience Acute or Chronic health issues
- Those that tried other healthcare approaches but were unhappy with the results
- Those who seek physical, emotional and mental transformation

What is sMSA?

Surrogate Meridian Stress Assessment (sMSA) is a highly informative tool used to conduct a complete energetic analysis of your hair, nails and saliva (HNS). This type of analysis probes into the bioenergetics aspect of your DNA/RNA of your body's specimens. The DNA is captured energetically to measure pathways of energy called Meridians that flow through the body. Acupuncturists probe these pathways with needles. We use computerized technology.

Accessing Meridians energetically was originally developed in Germany in the early 1950's by Dr. Reinhold Voll, He was a medical doctor and acupuncturist. His research into the electromagnetic range of the body led him to note that a controlled, micro-electric current into any particular meridian could provide feedback from the organs, glands, and tissues of the body. Dr. Voll theorized that energy readings higher than normal signify the potential of an inflammatory condition and lower readings relate to degenerative tissue damage. Current research is confirming the fact that chronic unresolved inflammation does in fact lead to tissue and organ degeneration. At GHHC doing a BSA analysis of the Meridians provide valuable information into a wide range of puzzling health-related problems offering a perspective alternative complimentary approach to biochemistry-based medicine.

The value of the sMSA should not be underestimated. Health imbalances may present themselves in the electromagnetic field long before they manifest as physical symptoms. sMSA is an essential first step in creating your personal wellness program.

What Will a sMSA Do for Me?

The primary objective of this assessment is to disclose patterns of stress caused by:

Allergies
Vitamin and Mineral Deficiencies
Absorption/Digestive Disorders
Enzyme Deficiencies
Neurotransmitter Imbalances
Heavy Metal/Environmental Toxicity
Pathogens
Oxidative Stress Levels
pH Issues
Blood Sugar Imbalances
Kidney and Liver Function
Emotional Stressors
Hormonal Imbalances
Immune System

Once these influences are identified, GHHC will assist you in establishing a customized program of nutritional, botanical, and/or homeopathic remedies designed for your individual needs, as well as to recommend the right supportive therapies.

What Can I Expect?

GHHC offers a number of specific testing protocols as well as more general evaluation programs. Although we do not diagnose, you will find the indications of the screening process to be vital to your personal health maintenance. We may also recommend a few supplements to complement your homeopathic regimen. You will be notified of this before any charges are made to your account.
